For the artist, water colour allow her to delve into the intrigue and awe of her environment. Every change in weather effects the way the watercolour is used and behaves. Chandler pushes the boundaries of her medium to capture the complexity of the Australian landscape. The intensity of the water colour unique to her work.

When Reality is Better than the Dream is the result of Chandler's Six previous solos, a combination of the last few years of her practice. She reminds us to seek out simplicity—a rock, a wave, a landscape—because here, is complexity, depth, and joy. In the face of the eternal juggling act, both one of nature and art, there is playfulness and wonder. When you arrive at a place that is better than you could have possibly imagined - all is quiet
